

A-Ney – The virtual intercultural escaperoom

(Designed by Barbara Nietzel, Interculture e.V.)

What is interculturality? – We encounter interculturality in situations where our sense for what is normal, plausible, and relevant starts to falter. We feel insecure. Interculturality poses challenges to having successful communication and collaboration.

Is it possible to learn how to communicate better in complex and international environments all while meeting international colleagues from other universities?

It is! Join the A-Ney adventure, the virtual intercultural escape room. Practice your language and negotiation skills and have fun.

April 24th, 9.30 a.m. - 2.30 p.m. (break included), online via Zoom

Everyone interested, especially administrative university staff members, are warmly welcomed. English B1/B2 level is advised.

Curious? Understandable. Watch the designer's teaser video for more:
